REPORT

OF THE

Committee on Accounts and Finance.

NASHUA, N. H., Dec. 31, 1895.

The undersigned committee on accounts and finance for the city of Nashua have carefully examined the accounts of William E. Spalding, city treasurer, and find the same correctly cast and each payment properly vouched for by treasury orders for the same corresponding in amounts with the vouchers in the hands of the city clerk of said city.

We have also examined the source from which the income of the past year has been derived and are satisfied that he has charged himself with the entire amount as city treasurer paid to him and has made a correct exhibit in detail.

We find the balance in the hands of said treasurer to be seven thousand two hundred and ninety-six 37-100 dollars ($7296.37.)

Fire Alarm Telegraph.

This branch of the service has never been more efficient than it is to day. Having recently installed a modern storage battery system, equipped with all the latest appliances, we believe the expense of maintenance will be greatly reduced, as well as the service improved. There have been no new boxes added the past year.

INSTRUCTIONS TO KEY HOLDERS AND CITIZENS.

I. Upon the discovery of a fire go to the nearest box, turn key in lock, and hold bolt back with key as it is a spring lock, pull down the hook as far as it will go, shut the door. Do not try to remove the key as it is locked in, and cannot be removed unless by one of the engineers who will, as soon as convenient, release and return it.

II. All persons giving fire alarms should remain awhile by the box so as to direct the firemen to the fire.

III. No person will give an alarm for the same fire after the first alarm has been given without an order from an engineer or the officer in command, and the person so ordered will be sure to go to the same box from which the first alarm was given, and report to the chief engineer.

IV. Never signal for a fire seen at a distance; never touch a box except to give an alarm of fire; do not give an alarm for a chimney fire.

V. Never let a key go out of your possession unless called for by the chief engineer. If you change your residence or place of business, where the keys are kept, return key to the same officer.

REPORT

OF THE

POLICE COMMISSIONERS

OF THE

CITY OF NASHUA.

1895.

NASHUA, N. H., Dec. 31, 1895.

To his Honor the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen:

The Board of Police Commissioners for the city of Nashua, respectfully submit their fourth annual report, for the year ending Dec. 31, 1895. Ten meetings of the board have been held the past year.

One regular officer, Magloire Duprez, has resigned from the force and no appointment has been made to fill the vacancy.

A hearing was granted a committee of the Nashua Law and Order League, who desired a more thorough and impartial enforcement of the laws of the state. Charges of violence used during arrest were filed against one of the regular officers,—a hearing was granted,—but the complainant failed to appear and sustain the charges alleged in his complaint. The resignations of policemen George W. Squires, Edward Lambert, Peter Degnan, Alfred F. Johnson and Francis A. Barnes, were received and accepted. Daniel Gibson and Samuel R. Collins were removed by death, Eugene J. Pope was appointed policeman.

The force consists of city marshal, assistant marshal, police matron, captain and sergeant of the night patrol, inspector, turnkey, fourteen patrolmen and a reserve force of 62 policemen.

The city marshal's report to the board of police commissioners, for the year ending Dec. 31, 1895, is presented for your consideration. The report shows a slight decrease in the number of arrests and a continued decrease in the number of persons arrested for drunkeness. A large increase is noticeable in the number of liquor prosecutions, as well as the amount of the receipts of the police court, which have increased $7,067.69 over the previous year, making a total of $14,346.31 paid to the city treasurer the past year.

The usual good discipline and efficiency of the force continues to prevail.

By directton of the Board of Police Commissioners,

CHARLES H. BURKE, Clerk.

Discipline.

The discipline of the force has been good, and I have not much cause of complaint. The members, as a rule, have manifested a disposition to conform to orders of their superiors, and cheerfully and faithfully perform their duties according to the rules and regulations as established for their government by the Board of Police Commissioners. The amount of stolen property reported stolen is $1,999.80; the amount returned to its owners was $1,848.-05, which I consider a very good showing. There have been 214 stores found open and secured during the last year, and I would call on the business men to be a little more careful in securing their places of business. The police are the servants of the citizen, and it is the duty of every citizen to report to the Chief of Police, or Commissioners, the failure of any officer to perform his duty. Such complaints will receive immediate attention. There are a great many people who send complaints about this and that in writing through the mail without signing their names. No such anonymous letters will receive any attention at these headquarters. But all communications properly signed will receive prompt attention.

Detective Department.

This department is faithfully looked after by Thomas Flood, who has been detailed from regular patrol duty for this purpose.

Police Matron.

Eliza Cary has faithfully looked after this department, and has proved herself the right person in the right place.

Police Signal.

As has been said in previous reports, I believe the time is not far distant when the citizens will consider this question favorably.

Conclusion.

To the Honorable Board of Police Commissioners, I wish to express my appreciation for their counsels in the duties of my office. They have always been pleasant and harmonious, and it has been a pleasure to me to endeavor to perform the duties of my office according to their wishes. Gentlemen, I thank you.

I also desire to acknowledge my obligations to Deputy Marshal Wheeler, Captain Campbell, Sergeant M. E. Watson and Inspector Flood, and all the men of the department. I also extend my heartfelt thanks to Judge C. W. Hoitt, Associate Justice W. O. Clough, Clerk James H. Willoughby and City Solicitor E. H. Wason, for their kind words and assistance. I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

ALVIN S. EATON,

City Marshal.

CITY SOLICITOR'S REPORT.

To His Honor the Mayor and City Councils:

Gentlemen,—I herewith submit my report as Solicitor for the year ending December 31st, 1895.

During the year several cases have been disposed of in the following manner:

J. E. KENT VS. NASHUA.—This case, the plaintiff claimed injuries occasioned by being thrown from a sleigh, Dec. 5, 1893, on Main street, in front of H. G. Bixby's house. Settled by the committee. The city paid $500, and the Street Railway paid $350, toward the said amount.

JULIA E. PUTNAM VS. NASHUA.—The plaintiff was injured by falling on an icy walk in front of C. W. Edwards' store on Main street. Settled by the city paying $150.

ANDREW C. BURREBY VS. NASHUA.—The plaintiff was injured by driving into a hollow between the new highway and the old one at the Concord street extension, August, 1893. His right arm was broken and his spine injured. Settled by the city paying $1,550.

During the year no suits have been brought against the city.

The following cases are in court pending trial or settlement.

Worcester, Nashua & Rochester R. R.	vs.	Nashua.
J. B. Greeley	vs.	Nashua.
H. L. H. Ridge	vs.	Nashua.

P. P. Mitchell	vs.	Nashua.
A. A. Wheeler	vs.	Nashua.
Nashua	vs.	Donahue.

During the year I have tried such cases in the Police Court as the City Marshall has asked for assistance. I have furnished several written opinions and attended meetings of the various committees of the City Councils when requested, and of the City Councils.

In conclusion, I wish to thank all for their uniform kindness and courtesy in my official relations with them.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD H. WASON,

Solicitor.

Report of the Board of Health.

To His Honor the Mayor and City Councils:

The board of health herewith respectfully submit their report for the year 1895.

The city of Nashua has been remarkably free from epidemics in the latter half of 1895, and that is ascribed to the better sanitary conditions prevailing in every ward of the city.

This board desires to ask everyone to have, always and everywhere, the danger of contagion of tuberculosis guarded against by destroying the sputum of every consumptive; as the greatest danger lies in the dried sputum, for it then is an invisible dust carrying the terrible "Bacillus Tuberculosis" into one's lungs.

Too much caution cannot be taken by those who care for these consumptives, in the disinfection and washing separately of knives, forks, spoons, cups, saucers, plates, etc., so that the other members of the family will be as secure as possible from this source of contagion.

Tuberculosis, though not considered by the public as contagious, is just as contagious as scarlet fever, diphtheria, etc., but only through the ingestion of tuberculous meat, milk, etc., and especially by inhaling the bacillus.

We all know that those who live with a person who has scarlet fever, or where a person has had any contagious disease, are in danger of contracting the disease, consequently it is with great care that the premises are disinfected. Though consumption is contagious how often is the room where lived or died a consumptive disinfected? Never!

Yet tuberculosis is far more dangerous than the diseases styled as contagious, for it kills more persons yearly than all the other contagious diseases put together, scarlet fever, typhoid, diphtheria, small pox, etc. These frighten people out of their wits because they strike down suddenly one in full health, causing one's demise in a short time, whilst consumption comes on slowly, gradually disorganizing the lungs without "eclat."

Tuberculosis kills over 70,000 persons yearly in England; 150,000 in Germany; 200,000 in the United States; 15,000 in the city of Paris, etc., etc.

Here it is where governments both state and municipal must enact and enforce rigidly thorough disinfection laws, and, physicians aiding by their advice, this plague will cease its terrible ravages and will disappear, just as disappeared leprosy, which prevailed with such intensity during the dark ages, in all the countries of Europe.

Our thanks are herewith extended to all those whose business brought them in contact with us, for their uniform kindness and courtesy.

TWENTY-NINTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

Trustees of the Nashua Public Library.

To the Honorable City Council:

The trustees of the Nashua Public Library herewith make their twenty-ninth annual report. They are pleased to report a continued increase in the demand for reading matter by the citizens generally, and a better appreciation of the benefits to be derived from this institution. A large number of books have been added during the year, both by purchase and by contribution. Those purchased having been carefully selected by the committee to meet the present requirements of the reading public.

The reading room which has supplied a much desired and long looked for accommodation, has been liberally patronized and has every evidence of being fully appreciated.

In view of the increased demand for books and reference books in particular, we would respectfully request that the appropriation this year be as liberal as in your best judgment seems desirable.

It is our painful duty to record the death of Dr. Edward Spalding, which occurred June 22, 1895. He had been an active and influential member of the board of trustees since its first organization in 1867 and had always been liberal toward its support. He was a graduate of Dartmouth college, class of 1833, and had been a member of the board of trustees of that institution for many years.

He had been mayor of our city and had held many other prominent positions. He was active in city and state and was well known for his benevolence and Christian virtues.

Your attention is called to the report of treasurer and librarian as furnishing interesting and valuable information.

Respectfully submitted,

D. F. RUNNELLS.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

To the Board of Trustees of the Nashua Public Library:

Gentlemen,—Our first thought in reviewing the past year, is one of sadness. In the death of our honored trustee, Dr. Spalding, the library has sustained a great loss. He has been identified with it from its beginning, and was always interested in all that concerned its usefulness and development. We miss greatly his timely suggestions, advice and constant interest.

The number of books and pamphlets added the past year is 875. The library contains, at present, counting books and pamphlets, a total of 13,142. Ninety-six worn out books have been withdrawn from circulation this year. Some of those most needed have been replaced. To keep the catalogue perfect many more should be purchased to fill the places of those withdrawn in the last five years, but such is the demand for new books in the various departments of science, literature, reference and fiction that with our present means it cannot be done.

The library was closed the first days of the year, by order of the health board, scarlet fever being prevalent.

Number of days open to the public, 302; books given out, 38,466; average daily circulation, 127; number of cards given out this year, 428; total number of cards now issued, 3,092.

The smallest number of books given out was in April, the largest in November. Fear of the fever lessened materially the number given in January and February. During these months the circulation is always the largest.

That the books and maps purchased for the reference library have been appreciated has been shown by their almost constant use. This department I consider one of the most important. We have no means of knowing the number of books used, as the public are allowed access to the shelves, but could they be counted one would be greatly surprised at the number.

The reading room, having to serve the double purpose of reading and reference rooms, is often overcrowded, and many times people go away as there is no room for them. In many other libraries where there is no special room for the juveniles they are only allowed the use of the reading room during certain hours. Would it not be wise to make some such rule, as at present those reading and studying complain that they are disturbed?

For the reading room 33 different magazines and 10 newspapers are taken.

We are indebted to Mr. Charles Stickney for the Chicago Record. Our city papers kindly print the monthly addition of books, which is helpful to the public, and appreciated by them.

Mr. C. H. Bliss has made our rooms brighter and more attractive by his generous gifts of flowers during the summer and autumn.

Amount received from fines, .	$124 58
		$124 58
Incidental expenses, . .	$29 58
Given to Mr. Gilman, Treasurer,	95 00
		$124 58

As the work of the library is constantly increasing, it is quite impossible for two people to accomplish it. I do not think the trustees will consider that I am making an unreasonable request when I ask that assistance be allowed us for our busiest hours, and that we may no longer be obliged to pay for it as we have done.

The librarian would thank the trustees for the kindness she meets at their hands. It would give her pleasure could they more frequently visit the library and familiarize themselves with its methods.

Respectfully submitted,

HARRIET CROMBIE,

Librarian.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

Trustees of Edgewood Cemetery

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DEC. 31, 1895.

To the City Councils:

The trustees of Edgewood Cemetery respectfully submit their annual report for the season of 1895.

Having in previous reports of 1893 and 1894, specifically detailed the plans and work designed, outlined and partially accomplished, it is unnecessary to burden you with more than a statement of the receipts and expenditures of public moneys that have passed through our hands, with a brief review of what has been done in the past season.

Meetings.

All regular monthly meetings and such special meetings as required have been duly held.

Grounds.

The line of improvement as contemplated in 1893 (the first year of our organization) has been carried along as far as the funds at our disposal would permit. The planting of shrubbery, trees, vines, plants, bulbs, etc., etc.; the making of lawn and flower plats, grading of drive-ways and walks; extension of water mains and service; clearing up of the wooded grove on the easterly border, has been continued; burial plats in sections containing from ten to thirty lots of varying sizes, have been prepared by trenching, grading and sodding, in Hillside Lawn, Oak Circle, Garden place and other sections. We have now upwards of one hundred lots ready for disposal at prices varying from $25 to $175 each.

The exposed front (about 550 feet) on Amherst street, northwest of the main entrance has been enclosed by fence, with a hedge of shrubbery inside, same as southeast of main entrance, and a like fence has been constructed along Edgewood avenue, from Amherst street easterly 475 feet, in the building of which, the old fence material heretofore reported on hand has been utilized.

The addition of one and one-third acres of land, purchased of John F. Stark in 1894, has been cleared of the undergrowth and seeded down to grass.

No improvement beyond placing the bounds, has been attempted upon the addition of 6 96-100 acres (the Mitchell land) which was taken by due process, upon an award of $2,500 in December 1894, for the reason, that early in the year, the former owners of this tract, through Cyrus M. Mitchell instituted an action against the city for damages, claiming an exhorbitant sum. The case however, has been satisfactorily adjusted by your honorable board, without suit, for the sum of $3,000, without costs or interest, and we now have clear title to this property, which will be developed as soon as circumstances and funds will warrant.

Additional lawn settees and such tools and implements as were necessary have been purchased, all of which with the buildings are in good condition.

Interments.

There have been made during 1895, interments of adults, 25; children 12; re-interments, removals from other grounds, adults, 2; children, 4. Total 43.

Soldiers Graves.

There has been no increase in the number of veterans graves; there are 52, all of which are properly cared for, with the national flag floating over each.

Care of Lots.

We have observed an increased interest manifested by lot holders in the care of lots, the number placing their lots under annual care having largely increased while the additions to the Perpetual Care Fund have been notably significant.

REPORT

OF THE

Trustees of Woodlawn Cemetery.

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DEC. 31, 1895.

To the Honorable City Councils:

Agreeable to the legislative enactment of March 13, 1895, accepted by the Honorable Mayor and Aldermen April 9, 1895, creating a board of trustees of Woodlawn Cemetery, the undersigned respectfully submit their annual report.

The first meeting of the board was held April 16, 1895. The term of office of each member was determined by allotment, organization effected, officers elected and committees appointed. At meetings held during the month the preparation of by-laws, rules and regulations, matters of improvements, etc., were considered and adopted. Regular monthly meetings have been held during the year.

The first record of interment was made in 1848. The cemetery at that time extending as far west as where the chapel now stands. At the present time it includes between thirty and thirty-five acres, about four acres having been added this year, including the so-called Wason lot, purchased by the city; the other land had previously been purchased for the cemetery use during the administration of his Honor ex-Mayor Burke, but had not been fenced in as the Wason lot could not be purchased at that time and the city's ownership of this lot was necessary to the uniformity of the line on Kinsley street. Since this last purchase the whole has been fenced in, making the entire tract enclosed with the exception of that lying south of Kinsley street, now leased to the street railway and used for base ball grounds. This lot was purchased during the administration of the late ex-Mayor Sargent, Nov. 14, 1871, and was divided from the cemetery proper by the extension of Kinsley street in 1872. This lot comprises several acres.

In the near future it is the intention of the trustees to ask your honorable body for the power to sell this tract; the money received to be used in the purchase of other land adjoining the cemetery proper.

Grounds.

In assuming charge of the grounds the trustees found they had taken a great responsibility. The condition of the Hollis street cemetery was such as to require a large outlay of money. As the appropriations in the past had not been sufficient to keep the grounds in the best of condition, many of the lots were shamefully neglected; the conditions of the walks and drives were bad; it had become a custom of teamsters and others to use the drives between Hollis and Kinsley street for a public thoroughfare, making it almost impossible to keep them in good condition, but by the practice of economy and the increased interest of lot owners to have their lots kept in proper condition, we have been able to live within the appropriation.

Buildings.

The buildings consist of chapel, tomb and tool house all in good condition. During the year a chimney and stove have been added to the chapel.

Records.

Records have been kept of all meetings and all business transacted. An interment book has been opened in which a complete record of every interment is made.

Improvements.

The improvements during the season are marked. Lots centrally located in different parts of the grounds, which were not taken for burial purposes have been graded and beautified by the planting of shrubs and flowers, thus adding much to the adornment and embellishment of the grounds.

The drives through many of them need grading; have been kept clean and free from grass and weeds. The addition taken in this season has been ploughed and a roadway graded through it connecting with the main drive from Hollis street. It is the intention of the trustees to depart somewhat from the old block system and substitute a more modern system in laying out the new section. Among the early spring improvements will be the surveys of the grounds, planting of trees, painting of fence, etc. Sign boards have been erected announcing the rules of the cemetery.

Deeds.

There being no records of ownership, no conveyances having been made and the legislative enactment authorizing the trustees to convey lots, it was decided to tender to parties who held lots under the old system a deed of such lot for the sum of $5.00; several have been taken. Any desirous of procuring one of these deeds can obtain the same of the secretary.

Interments.

The total number of interments in the cemetery as near as can be ascertained is about 12,000. During the past season, to Dec. 1, there have been made interments of 59 adults, 44 children, 42 interments from out of town, 5 removals from other cemeteries.

There are 210 soldiers interred at Woodlawn as follows: 2 of the War 1776; 2 of the War of 1812; 1 of the Mexican War; 205 of the War of 1861, all of which have shields to mark their resting place.

Annual Care.

While the board has no authority or desire to prohibit any owner from personally caring for her or his lot, it was decided that outside parties could not be permitted to care for lots for remuneration. A price of one cent per square foot was established for the annual care, which includes top dressing, watering and lawn mowing.

Perpetual Care.

The trustees are authorized by the act of the legislature creating the board to receive and hold in trust property or funds bequeathed, donated or deposited for perpetual care of lots in this cemetery. The principal of such bequest or deposit to be permanently invested; the income to be used for the purpose designated, the trustees giving to the owners of the lot, or his or her representative a bond or obligation binding themselves and their successors to forever preserve and keep in repair the grounds, cut the grass and top-dress.

RESIGNATIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

NASHUA, N. H., Jan. 1, 1896.

Secretary J. E. Tolles, Board of Education :

The term of three years for which I was elected a member of this board having expired and preferring not to accept the extension of another three years which was dictated merely by a political exigency arising from the change of tenure of the city councils, I hereby tender my resignation, to take effect from this date.

I take this opportunity to express my appreciation of the uniform courtesy and kindly considerations shown me by my fellow members throughout my term of service.

Very truly,

JAMES H. DUNLAP.

RESOLUTIONS.

WHEREAS: It has seemed wise to Mr. J. H. Dunlap to resign his office as a member of the board of education of the city of Nashua because of the pressure of other business and other cares, and

WHEREAS: In accepting such resignation this board of education desires to express its deep regret at the loss of the wise counsel and calm firmness of Mr. Dunlap in its deliberations. Be it Resolved, By the board of education of the city of Nashua that the clerk be instructed to express in a letter to Mr. Dunlap the extreme regret it feels as a body and as individuals at his departure from this body; and be it further resolved that these resolutions be spread upon the records of this board and that a copy of the same be sent to Mr. Dunlap.

To the Board of Education :

GENTLEMEN :— I hereby tender you my resignation as president, to take effect immediately.

I thank you for the many courteous and kind acts that I have received at your hands since I became associated with you upon the board, and since being your president, and I assure you of my well wishes for your future success, and that of the schools of our city, and trust that your associations and deliberations may be as tranquil and pleasant in the future, with my successor, as ours have been in the past.

Respectfully yours,

Jan. 25, 1896. E. H. WASON.

To the Board of Education :

GENTLEMEN : — My right of being a member of the board of education and holding the office of city solicitor having been questioned, without admitting the correctness of the same or admitting that under our charter and ordinances a person cannot hold both positions, I desire to tender you my resignation as a member of said board, to take effect at once.

While my associations with each one of you have been pleasant and will be ever remembered by me as such, and knowing as I do that the duties of the office are irksome and subject a member to a great deal of work without compensation, and oblige him individually and as a member of the board to bear a great many adverse and unfair criticisms by individuals and by newspapers, and wishing to easily relieve myself of the responsibility and criticisms incident to this office, I am induced to take this step.

I trust that the time will come when every member of the board will receive compensation for the work performed, for I believe it to be for the interests of our public school system to have persons paid to manage one of the most important departments of our city.

In every other department of the city of Nashua the board of management, except the city councils, is paid, and our educational system needs as close care and attention as any other department.

Respectfully submitted,

Jan. 25, 1896. E. H. WASON.

NASHUA, Feb. 28, 1896.

E. H. Wason, Esq., Nashua :

DEAR SIR : — In taking leave of you as a member and as president, the board of education desires to give expression to its feeling of regret that such leave becomes necessary, to assure you of its appreciation of your valuable services on the floor and of your fairness, good sense, and ability in the chair, to extend to you its cordial good wishes for your future success.

Superintendent's Report.

To the Board of Education, Gentlemen :

It is an open question as to what should constitute a superintendent's report. To my mind it should consist, purely and simply of suggestions and recommendations for the improvement of the schools. Any digression from this main idea is a waste of both the reader's and the writer's time. I shall endeavor to make the aim of this report simple utility.

SCHOOLHOUSES.

More than half of the schoolrooms in this city, if they were in the state of Massachusetts, would be condemned as places injurious to the health of the children. It seems strange in an age when even the farmers are remodelling the barns in order that the sanitary condition of their cattle may be improved, that we should allow our children to huddle in a poorly lighted room, heated with an old fashioned wood stove and with no practical means of ventilation.

Are cattle then of so much more importance than our children ? When I view the clean, airy, well furnished and well lighted engine houses and their even luxurious stalls, and then tramp down to the Belvidere school, built over sixty years ago, poorly lighted, the children next the stove hot, the children next the windows cold, no ventilation possible without drafts ; verily I wish the children had votes.

As State Superintendent Gowing has well said: "Any system of schools which takes children in at the foot rosy, hearty and rugged, and turns them out at the top sallow, hollow chested and weak, is fundamentally wrong."

While I do not believe all our buildings are unhealthful yet I am convinced that a greater part of our schoolrooms at least do not contribute to the good health of the pupils. As has been pointed out in previous reports, the defects in lighting, heating and ventilating can be easily remedied.

The Main Street school was originally intended for a village high school with two large rooms one on each floor. From each of these led a small recitation room. After the building of the present high school, the interior of the Main street building was cut up into eight rooms. In order to have the rooms of even tolerable size the hallways had to be made very small and the stairways correspondingly narrow. These stairways besides being narrow make a complete turn. The halls in this building are necessarily dark and ill-ventilated, particularly is this true of the first floor. One other very bad feature about this school is the fact that the outside doors open inward instead of outward as they should. From these facts it may be readily understood what would be the probable result in case of fire.

I believe that the time has come when the Main street school lot is of far more value for other purposes; and that the money derived for the sale of this property would go a great way towards the purchase of a lot on a more retired street and the erection of a commodious building thereon. Or the money could go towards the building of a new school on the present high school lot which is ample for the erection of another large building.

There is one feature of the high school building which is radically wrong and detrimental to the health of the pupils,namely—the placing the chemical laboratory in the basement.

This evil could easily be remedied by the removal of the chemical laboratory to the third floor and by placing a number of ventilating hoods in it by which the noxious gases could escape to the roof without permeating the entire building as they do at present.

This leads me to speak of the inadequate accommodations of our high school. It is only by using expedients decidedly detrimental to the best welfare of the school that we have been enabled to accommodate our present numbers. When these numbers increase as they are bound to do, some radical change must be made. The present high school was built over twenty years ago and during the interim the population of Nashua has nearly doubled. It is evident to any careful observer that Nashua is sorely in need of better high school accommodations.

At the present time all the rooms in the Spring street building could be used to advantage by the high school alone but this is rendered impossible by our lack of grammar rooms.

Before leaving this subject I must speak again in this report, as I have in two preceding ones, of the poor light in the rooms on the third floor at Mt. Pleasant.

SUPPLIES.

The schools at the present time are fairly well equipped with text books including supplementary readers. I would further recommend the purchase of supplementary histories and geographies. Our supply of wall maps is very inadequate and the few which we have are obsolete.

For the accurate teaching of physical geography wall maps are an essential feature but unless they are comparatively up to date we are better off without them. I would therefore recommend at least one complete collection for each of the large buildings.

The work in natural science in the high school has been much crippled by the lack of a sufficient number of good microscopes. The valuable time of both teachers and pupils is wasted on account of inadequate facilities along this line.

There is a point in this connection which is liable to be overlooked, viz : That school time is so expensive that the very best tools are the height of economy and that in apparently economizing in supplies one is very often wasting the much more costly time of the teachers. In school work as in farming, street-making, manufacturing or in. any other business the very best tools are economical To put it in another way our teachers' salaries for a year amount in round numbers to $40,000 ; our expenses for books, supplies, etc., amount to $5,000 ; now it is not good sense to waste the time of the teacher for which we pay so much by giving her poor or insufficient materials for the sake of saving a part of the comparatively small sum we pay for supplies. In this we are not considering the moral injustice we would be practising toward the children by withholding from them the best.

OVERCROWDING SCHOOLROOMS.

The tendency in all cities is to overcrowd the schoolrooms. Nashua, after the advent of the parochial schools, was particularly free from this fault. Indeed there were many rooms at that time unoccupied. Since then the city has grown in many instances beyond the school accommodations so that now there are a number of teachers struggling to accomplish good work with classes altogether too large. It is an undeniable fact that it is impossible to do the best work with classes numbering over forty, and impossible to do good work with classes over fifty in number; the younger the children the truer these statements are. At the present time the first grade rooms at the O'Donnell, Palm and Arlington street schools are overcrowded. What will be done with these classes when they have the additional children who come into the schools at the commencement of the spring term is an open problem.

TRAINING SCHOOL.

Our schools during the past two years show an increase of over twenty-five per cent. Our teaching force of necessity has been materially increased. Good teachers have been obtained for these classes with the greatest difficulty, because of our low salaries. It is constantly brought to my mind that we should train more of our Nashua young ladies to fill the positions which the increases in our schools are constantly offering.

Our only means of doing this is to increase the number of normal students at our training school. This cannot be done under the present system in as much as it would be impossible to increase the normal work of the school without neglecting somewhat the teaching of the children. This is a thing which must not happen. In the past the work done by the children at Amherst street school has been of the very best, and it would be a decided misfortune to impalr the efficiency one iota in this direction.

I would therefore advise the opening of a sixth grade at the Amherst street school and the employment of an assistant to the principal. This would have many things to commend it; first, more young ladies could be admitted to the normal classes; second, the sixth grade at Mt. Pleasant, which in the past has always been overcrowded, would be relieved; third, the young ladies would have the opportunity of studying a year's work in the grammar grades, which heretofore they have been unable to do.

This plan would necessitate the moving of the kindergarten to a more central location. It has long been felt by parents and teachers that the placing of the kindergarten at the Amherst street school was not for the best interest of the little children, particularly in winter. It would seem as though a room more centrally located might be engaged.

It seems to me, that in justice to the young ladies who pass through our training school and are admitted into the corps of teachers, that the time which they spend in their normal work should be counted as experience in teaching and their salaries fixed accordingly.

SUPERVISING PRINCIPALS.

This board of education has previously acknowledged its belief in the need of supervising principals by their appointment of them for the Mt. Pleasant and Arlington street schools. I would strongly urge the carrying out of this principle still further.

The five grammar rooms at present in the Spring street building and the eight rooms at the Main street building should have closer supervision than is now possible. These two buildings are so closely connected and such a short distance apart that a principal would have little difficulty in supervising both. The advantage to the schools in unifying their work would be incalculable. Then the three schools which feed our high school directly would derive each an equal benefit from the supervision of a principal.

SUBURBAN SCHOOLS.

The children who live in the outskirts will never have an equal chance with those dwelling in the city proper so far as school work is concerned until the suburban schools are abolished and some means devised for bringing them into the graded schools.

It is not the province of this report to discuss the merits and the demerits of the graded school system as compared with the ungraded. But sufficient to say that it is the unanimous opinion of all educators that the graded system, in spite of many defects, is far superior to the ungraded. Now this being the case, why maintain a series of ungraded schools when at a less expense the children who attend these schools could be brought to the city and enjoy the advantages of the graded system. In other words, why carry on a thing which can be done more cheaply and far better in another way. Others have recognized this fact and many towns have abolished the ungraded schools and bring all the children to one central building with excellent results.

In closing I wish to recognize the conscientious work of the Nashua teachers and to thank both them and members of this board of education for their uniform support during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

J. H. FASSETT.

Report of the Director of Music.

NASHUA, N. H., January 29, 1896.

To Mr. James H. Fassett, Superintendent of Schools :

DEAR SIR—The report of the director of music for 1890 called attention to organization and plans for the future, that for 1891 to labor and progress, that for 1892 to growth in matter and method, that for 1893 to results which promised much for the future, and that for 1894 to the fulfillment of the promise of the work of the previous year.

Having thus, in my last five official communications dwelt at length upon the so-called "practical" attributes of the subject, allow me in this, my sixth annual report, respectfully to present for your consideration a few of its ethical elements.

THE DAILY MUSIC PERIOD AS A MORAL FORCE IN THE CLASS ROOM.

Dr. William T. Harris, United States commissioner of education, affirms : "Moral education is everywhere acknowledged to be the most important part of all education."

It necessarily follows, then, that the moral influence of the daily music period is vastly of greater moment than the pleasure derived by the pupil in the simple act of singing, or the intellectual development secured by him in the mastery of the science of the notation of the song which he sings.

In language, we not only consider it necessary that the pupil be able intelligently to express his thought in conversation, to get from the printed page in reading the thought of others, but in the conversation, and in the reading, we undertake as the great and ultimate purpose of our teaching the formation of right ideas and right habits.

So in music it is not sufficient that the child be able to sing, not enough that he be able to sing at sight, but to the singing must be added that which was essential in the conversation, and to the singing at sight must be added that which was essential in the reading. In other words, the song should prove to the child a vehicle of expression through which he receives the great moral lessons of its burden, and the study of the science of the notation of the song should develop in him the control of that dominating force in thought and action—the human will.

Let us, then, clearly understand that we are not only to teach our pupils to sing and to sing at sight, but through the burden of the song as expressed in text, melody and rhythm, we are to develop right ideas, high ideals ; while in the study of the science of the notation of the song we are to secure to our pupils the development of right habits of thought and action, which are the product of the will itself.

DISCIPLINE OF THE MENTAL FACULTIES.

How can the discipline of the mental faculties be secured through the study of the science of the notation?

How can right habits of thought and action, which are the product of the will itself, be induced through the work of the daily music period?

Music is a science, its practice an art. Of science it has well been said that the teaching readily lends itself to the cultivation of truthfulness. And I maintain that the pupil who forms habits of carelessness and inaccuracy in geographical observation, mathematical calculation and statement of historical fact, will more quickly yield to temptation when a slight deviation from truthfulness and honestly present the opportunity for personal gain than will the pupil who, in the prosecution of his daily studies, has formed the habit of accurate observation, accurate calculation and accurate statement of fact.

If this be true of geography, mathematics and history, it is none the less so of music. Our boys and girls, both by precept and example, should be taught the principles and practice of true living, and each and every study to which their attention is called should prove to them a link in the chain of the great circuit of truth which individual effort in the attainment shall, in thought, word and deed, make perfect.

Consequently the boy or girl who is allowed to form habits of inaccuracy in pitch, and in relative duration of sound, that is, inaccuracy in time and tune as set forth in the notation of the song, is being trained in habits of untruthfulness and dishonesty, the fruitage of which may, in later years, be garnered in the convict's cell or the potter's field.

RIGHT HABITS IN THOUGHT AND ACTION.

There is hardly a right habit of human thought or action to which the work of the daily music period does not readily lend itself. Dwell for a moment upon a few of the duties of life and consider the application: The duty of acquiring knowledge; the duty of order; the duty of diligence; the duty of perseverance; the duty of justice and the duty of charity.

What, pray, will bring the duty of acquiring knowledge more forcibly home to a pupil than to find himself a member of a class of boys and girls of his own age and station, whose knowledge of sight-singing is far greater than his own?

What will so quickly force a pupil to perform the duty of conforming to the laws governing the action of those with whom he has numbered himself as joining his companions in a song of sufficient difficulty to tax his vocal, visual and auditory powers to that degree where individual effort alone will conduce to the success of all?

The duties of diligence and perseverance: He is lost in the song if he perform not these. Nothing but the exercise of diligence will permit him to hold the time and tune, and nothing save perseverance will lead his voice to the closing chord.

The duties of justice and charity: Pray is there not opportunity for the exercise of these in the daily music period? Surely there is, and thus we might continue the enumeration were we not convinced that the discipline of the mental faculties can be secured through the study of the science of the notation of the song, were we not convinced that right habits of thought and action can be induced through the work of the daily music period in sight singing.

RIGHT IDEAS—HIGH IDEALS.

Satisfied of this, let us consider how the burden of the song as expressed in text, melody and rhythm will assure the development of right ideas, high ideals.

A poem is said to be "The best thought in the fittest words." Someone possibly asks "Is it not sufficient to repeat the lines of the poem, speak the words? What, pray, can melody and rhythm add to the expression in the formation of right ideas, high ideals?"

What says The Educator? "The influence of poetry and music is founded upon two principles of human nature. 1st. The principle that sympathy is a greater power of influence with the young than argument. 2nd. The principle that thoughts and feelings obtain a power of recurring promptly, vividly and influentially to our minds in proportion to the frequency and the pleasantness of the impressions they before produced."

Of the first principle, sympathy, Jacob Abbott gives a striking illustration. He supposes a father and his boy taking a walk on a winter's morning. They see a bird on the snow. The father picks up a stone and says: "Wait a minute and see me knock him over." That boy has had a lesson in cruelty. Another father would have said: "Look, John, do you see that redbreast. He is hopping about on the snow to see if he can find a crumb or two for breakfast," and that boy would have had a lesson in kindness. In both cases it was not instruction, but sympathy which gave or rather took the lesson.

Another example: Take a child in your hand to visit a sick friend, shows freely your own feelings and you leave with the child impressions that will bear fruit in after years.

And still another: "An old man, with gray hair and tender heart, was walking with his two little grandchildren when he stooped to move a worm from the path lest it should be trodden under foot. The children felt the sympathy of the kindly act, and immediately began to sing aloud, as the suggestion of the moment, one of their little songs :

> 'Turn, turn thy hasty foot aside,
> Nor crush that helpless worm,
> The form thy wayward looks deride
> None but our God could form.'

"That song had been a living power within their memory and spoke its message to their hearts at the right moment as could have nothing else."

Curwin says : "Let us in this way use the sweet winning sympathy of song. Let us open our hearts to the children in song and they will not forget the thought which we thus express."

"The second principle, frequency and pleasantness," continues The Educator, "is one of the foundation principles of mental philosophy."

"Two motherless boys," says Smiles, "twins, one was brought up by a Christian lady and taught to sing merry but good songs. The other was neglected at home, and was companion of the stable boy, a youth of bad character, who made his lips familiar with immoral songs. When, after two or three years, the second came to live with the first, the good woman most feared the influence of his immoral songs upon the other."

To the testimony of The Educator let us add that of the teacher. Soon after the introduction of music into the board of schools of England, a teacher of 400 boys said : "I cannot speak too highly of the influence of the school songs. They have changed the moral tone of the school and have driven the street songs out of the play-ground."

Let us supplement the testimony of the teacher with that of the parent. Said one of the inspectors of her majesty's schools: "I shall never forget at a meeting of parents, when the arithmetic and good writing of the pupils had been praised, how one parent rose with eagerness and said: 'But what I value most in your schools is your songs. When I get home at night, I take Ben on one knee and Mary on the other, and my wife sits with the other boy on the opposite side of the fire and we sing these songs. How beautiful they are!' He began quoting them and telling of their power for good."

Let us now turn to the testimony of the ancient sage: "Most persons say," says Plato, "that the only purpose of music is to amuse; but this is a profane and unholy thought. To look on music as mere amusement cannot be justified. Music which has no other aim must neither be considered of value nor worthy of reverence."

The chief power of music then is: "That it adds a new and appropriate charm to the noble sentiment of the hymn or song with which it is linked. If you wish to impress on the heart of the people some beautiful and vital thought, enshrine it in a poem. The charm of the poetry will win a place for it in a thousand hearts. If you wish every heart of that thousand to remember and repeat the poem often, to linger upon its thought with quiet but unceasing delight, then clothe it in melody and rhythm, in song." "The music for which we contend," says The Educator, "is linked with poetry and employed to carry to the heart some lofty thought, some enobling emotion or some cheering sentiment. The importance of music to education thus understood, cannot well be overrated. It occupies ground in some degree peculiar to itself, ground which it is very important to occupy rightly in these times." "Some advantages it brings to physical, and many, when rightly studied, to intellectual education; but it displays its chief power on the field of æsthetics, morals and religion." "In æsthetic education, it unites with the art of drawing, and the studies of the finest models of literature, to develop the love of whatsoever is orderly, suitable, harmonious, beautiful and sublime." "This is a branch of education which the defenders of truth cannot, in these days, well afford to neglect. In moral education it joins with poetry to win the attention of youth, by the innocent beguilement of their united charms to truths and duties too often not otherwise attractive. By the same means it delays the attention on these truths, and, moreover, secures for them the irresistible power which belongs to constant reiteration. It possesses also that mighty sympathetic influence which the simple expression of feelings carries with it to the heart of the child whose interest has been gained. We beguile him to utter in the voice of pleasant song, the language of some good emotion or some noble sentiment, and, almost insensibly, he is won to join in the feelings he finds so pleasant to express. This is a power which is felt by us all, and which is greater than many arguments to the child. That which the teacher's moral lesson has explained and enforced, the moral song shall impress on the memory and endear to the heart. In a similar manner do music and poetry contribute their aid in directly religious education. They impress more deeply truths already taught; they give a language to faith and hope and love and joy of youthful piety; they elevate the mind and help to raise the heart to God."

Now, then, convinced of the inestimable value of melody and rhythm, song, to win the attention of the child to the burden of the text, to delay and concentrate that attention upon its many elusive subtleties, to promptly, vividly and influentially call to mind with ever increasing pleasure the impression of that thought thus lingering on the ear, how important it is that we utilize this vehicle of expression in our daily work.

We may undertake to express to the child in language as eloquent as ever fell from human tongue, the story of "The Journey of the Little Band of Rain Drops," so graphically related by Mr. Frye in "Brooks and Brook Basins," and we cannot convey one thousandth part of the meaning and countless beauties of this little story of creation, until the children themselves have clothed in melody and rhythm, in song, the text of the many poems, "the best thoughts in the fittest words," introduced into the tale.

Thus in geography, history, literature, and in many other studies of the school, melody and rhythm, song, can be used by the pupil himself to carry to his very soul lessons of life and truth, right ideas, high ideals, which we, by any other vehicle of expression known to man, can never hope to do.

We may speak of "patience" to the child, and our cold words will have for him little import, but when he clothes in melody and rhythm "the best thought in the fittest words," that thought becomes his very own.

"There is an angel, Patience called,
With gentle, kindly face,
Who light and peace around her spreads
Whatever be the place
The steepest hills are easy climbed
With Patience by thy side,
No work too hard, no task too great,
Hast thou with Patience tried.

When sad and sick a sufferer calls
He shall not call in vain,
If Patience cannot heal his wounds
She helps him bear the pain.
Then let us all of Patience sing
With joy our voices raise,
For Patience does much mighty work
Give Patience then the praise."

We may speak of "Industry" and our platitudes will fall upon unresponsive ears, but when the child clothes in song "the best thought in the fittest words," industry and its reward will become a living factor in his daily life.

"Gather roses while they bloom,
Never lose a day,
Nor in sloth one hour consume,
Time doth pass away.

Now you've opportunity
Both for work and play,
Where may you tomorrow be ?
Time doth pass away.

Men have mourned their whole life through
One good deed's delay ;
Do at once what you've to do ;
Time doth pass away."

We may speak to the child of the "Love of God." We may liken it, if you please, to the sacrificing love of father and mother, and he knows it not, but when he clothes in melody and rhythm "the best thoughts in the fittest words," the pulsing, throbbing melody falling from his own childish lips, becomes the very hand of the Heavenly Father upon his brow, and he feels that God is Love.

"Peaceful, quiet evening star,
Calmly shining from afar,
Smiling on me from above,
Whisper to me words of love.
Peaceful, quiet little child,
Looking up with eyes so mild,
As a sparkle up above,
This I whisper : "God is Love.' "

But you say the time is not yet come when we can introduce music into the history period, into the geography lesson, into the literature hour. Alas, no ! But the time will come, aye, now is, when we can introduce the history, the geography, and the literature into the music period. Is the song today of patriotism ? Can we not use it to bring the attention of the class to the thoughts brought out in yesterday's readings in history ? It is perhaps a memorial hymn. Can we not by it delay the attention of the pupils upon the motives which led to the gigantic sacrifice of life and treasure, that changed the face of Europe, as dwelt upon in Tuesday's geography text ?

Possibly the song is the "Old Templar" or the "Red Cross Knight." Can we not by it more vividly portray passages of Sir Walter Scott than did the text in Ivanhoe, for instance, in the literature class ?

Surely we can and I am confident that there are indeed few selections in the many music readers used in our schools which cannot intelligently and profitably be used in such a manner that the daily music period shall become what it ought to be, a great moral force in the class room.

Many of our teachers are alive to the importance of the work, and have a realizing sense of the possibilities afforded in the proper use of the music readers in the several class rooms, and while much in this direction is yet to be done, the following incident leads me to believe that something has already been accomplished.

"THE SHADY."

Somewhat removed from the activities of the town, where the plash of mill wheel, whirr of spindle and clatter of shuttle is lost in the idle motion of alder and pine, and where, pausing in its onward course to the sea, the river for a time lazily spreads its waters in ample volume from hill to hill, the land makes out into the water, and like a mighty arm majestically stretches its wooded soil into the current, pushing the thread of the stream farther and farther toward the opposite bank until satisfied with the stroke, it gathers well within its bold embrace, a pool of deep, almost motionless crystal, known in the parlance of the youth of the city as the "shady." Here, sheltered by the foliage of gnarled oaks near the water, scrubby in their second growth, the undulating surface of the hillsides somewhat back from the shore, covered with clumps of poplar and maple, and the larger expanse of woodland beyond, with which Dame Nature providentially seems to curtain this chamber of juvenile delight, are wont to wend their way in summer time, from early dawn till far into the night, a motley throng of men and boys. Big boys and little boys. Boys who by daily practice have become masters in the art of water locomotion and in a remarkably few minutes, with an astonishingly small number of strokes can cut the water from shore to shore, and boys who, although close and constant imitators of their elders, are, as yet, but novices in the art, and as "little fellahs" can only go "dog paddle" to the rock just off the shore and return.

Some years ago, seated with their companions in one of our Nashua schoolrooms, were four boys, A., B., C., and D. They came from homes of poverty, squalor and unhappiness, and apparently had respect for neither the Prince of Peace or the Prince of Darkness, manifesting neither love for the one, or fear for the other. They were a source of constant annoyance, not only to their parents, their seat mates, their teacher and the school officials, but to the guardians of the municipal peace as well. The truant officer ever numbered one or more of them upon his list. Suspension from the exercises of the class room more than once had as a punishment been meted out to one of the number and the advantages of the Reform school had often been seriously considered for another. In fact, the four bid fair at some future time to prove fit candidates for the penitentiary.

During the year in question the pupils of the schools were preparing for a school musical festival, and these boys possessing excellent voices were particularly interested in the work. The festival was held in June. Some time in the following August, two gentlemen, on a warm afternoon, were wending their way in silent meditation toward the river. Suddenly their attention was arrested by the sound of voices. They paused, and listening became aware of the fact that the voices were in song, and somewhat in the distance. Slowly and carefully they moved through the trees, until, reaching the outskirts of the wood they came to the "shady," and there upon the bank, seated upon their shin bones in the hot, blazing sun with nothing between their immortal souls and their Creator, save the flesh and blood with which God himself had veiled their immortality, were these boys, singing with fervor and expression that grand old hymn of Dyke's "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God Almighty."

The listeners stood spellbound until the conclusion of the hymn, and as the Amen died upon the air, and the boys in silence rose and plunged into the stream, the elder, with moistened eyes, thanked God for the daily music period as a moral force in the public schools of Nashua, while with softened heart his companion returned to his duties in September, determined that the lesson thus vouchsafed from heaven should not pass unheeded.

Of these boys it is interesting to know that A is still in school, and although in many ways not a model pupil, his deportment gives promise of a brighter future. B left school some time ago and is honored by those who daily meet him at his work as one who faithfully performs his duty. C is employed in a distant town, and his employer speaks of his conduct as most exemplary, at the same time expressing admiration for the ability with which he discharges the duties imposed by his position, while D is a credit to his trade and bids fair to become the noblest work of God—an honest man.

It is impossible to estimate the influence of the daily music period upon these four boys. It is idle to undertake to compare its influence with that of their other several studies. Their teacher affirms that in the music period she seemed to get nearer to them than in any other exercise. In teaching these boys to sing, the burden of the song, as expressed in text, melody and rhythm proved a vehicle of expression through which the teacher reached their very hearts and souls as she did in nothing else. Indeed singing did for them what all else failed to accomplish—afforded a medium through which the best that was in them was reached and developed.

Acknowledging my obligations to you, Sir, the board of education, the teachers, pupils and citizens of Nashua, I respectfully submit this, my sixth annual report.

E. W. PEARSON.

Report of Director of Drawing.

Mr. James H. Fassett, Superintendent of Schools:

Dear Sir :—I am pleased to report much progress during the past year, in the department under my direction. There has been a marked increase in the interest both on the part of teachers and pupils. Many of the teachers, who have firmly believed that only artists or persons of special genius or talent could draw from objects, or teach others to do so, have become convinced that there is no mystery about it.

Every child loves to draw, and will, if given pencil or crayon, make imperfect images with the greatest delight. One reason for the imperfection of these early attempts is that the child's concepts are equally imperfect and crude.

In order to draw well, two things are necessary : a knowledge of the object to be drawn, and the skill of hand to draw it. The child must not only study the object, but must also endeavor to acquire skill through repeated efforts. It is not enough that the mind wills the hand ; the muscles must be trained to obey the will. This end cannot be gained without a great deal of drill, of drudgery even, which fortunately the pupils do not seem to consider very irksome.

The course of work has been changed somewhat this past year,—improved, I hope. Instruction in color has been introduced in the primary grades. Another year it can be carried on into the grammar grades.

The general outline of work in the primary grades now is as shown under the following heads :

Color. The spectrum colors with their tints and shades.

Form. The type solids and objects based on them. The modeling of type solids and objects similar to them. The plane figures obtained from the type solids.

Pencil holding and arm movement.

Paper folding and cutting.

Construction of simple objects illustrating principles studied.

Historic ornament. Border arrangement with sticks, tablets and colored paper arrangement round a centre.

Units of distance. 1, 2, 3, 4, 1-2, and 1-4 units.

Nature drawing. Simple leaves, flowers and fruit.

Necessarily such a course as this could not be carried on systematically in those schools where so much of the teacher's time is devoted to teaching the English language.

The plan of work in the intermediate and grammar classes is intended to furnish the groundwork for any future study in this direction which the pupils may desire to undertake. It is generally conceded that a familiarity with the principles which govern good free hand drawing will necessitate a careful study of the type solids. Therefore these solids, illustrating almost every known principle of perspective, are given for models, to precede and form a foundation for object drawing. Objects similar in form to the type solids follow, to be drawn singly and in groups,—first from the simplest point of view, then from those more and more difficult, until it is to be hoped that there will be no difficulty in drawing any of them from any point of view, and in understanding the principles which underlie the representation of the same.

These general divisions have been made in the work of the intermediate and grammar grades.

Four weeks. Nature drawing: leaves, fruit, flowers, vegetables, etc.

Eighteen weeks. Model and object drawing: objects based on type solids.

Four weeks. Mechanical drawing: working drawings and geometric drawing.

Ten weeks. Historic ornament, design and nature drawing.

Total, thirty-six weeks.

HIGH SCHOOL.

The work done in the high school has been very creditable considering the small amount of time per week which is devoted to the subject. Drawing is taken up only in the freshman class, which, on account of its size, has to be divided into several sections, each of which has but forty-five minutes per week of class work. In addition to this, a little home work is required.

The crowded condition of the high school makes it impossible to devote one room solely to studio uses, else some different arrangement might be made. I think there are many in the upper classes who would like to have continued instruction in the subject.

EVENING DRAWING SCHOOL.

The first term of the year's session was mentioned in last year's report, but in review I will mention a few figures, thus giving the report for the entire school year.

Fall term, seven nights:

Advanced mechanical class, R. P. Elliott in charge.

Full number registered,	14

Architectural class, Miss Locke in charge.

Full number registered,	6

Elementary mechanical class, J. A. Herzog in charge.

Full number registered,	22

Free hand class, Miss Wentworth in charge.

Full number registered,	55
Total enrollment,	97
Average number belonging,	87
Average nightly attendance,	82
Per cent. attendance,	94

Winter term, twenty-five nights:

Advanced mechanical class, R. P. Elliott in charge.

Full number registered,	15

Architectural class, Miss Locke in charge.

Full number registered,	11

Elementary mechanical class, J. A. Herzog in charge.

Full number registered,	20

Free hand class, Miss Wentworth in charge.

Full number registered,	39
Total enrollment,	85
Average number belonging,	79
Average nightly attendance,	63
Per cent. attendance,	80

SPRING TERM, EIGHT NIGHTS.

Advanced mechanical class, R. P. Elliott in charge.

Full number registered,	10

Architectural class, Miss Locke in charge.

Full number registered,	10

Elementary mechanical class, W. H. Dean in charge.

Full number registered,	10
Free hand class, Miss Wentworth in charge.
Full number registered,	24
Total enrollment,	54
Average number belonging,	53
Average nightly attendance,	42
Per cent. attendance,	80

The pupils displayed great interest and enthusiasm, and much very creditable work, in all departments, was completed during the year.

In the performance of my duties I made the following school visits :

Winter term,	344
Spring term,	239
Fall term,	434
Total	1,017

In the process of these visits I personally conducted over 875 drawing lessons. I have held 25 teachers' meetings, and in addition have conducted twice a month special classes for the young ladies at the training school.

This report summarizes the work done in my department during the year just closed, and is respectfully submitted.

KATE B. WENTWORTH,
Director of Drawing.
